

Losing Bill of Rights Says Landon Attacking Policies of New Deal

Present Administration Must Be Defeated to Preserve American Form of Government, He Declares.

"TRIED TO TELL"

Says New Deal Tried to Tell Farmers, Business and Labor How to Run Itself.

Aboard Landon special en route to Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 21 (AP).—Gov. Alf M. Landon, charging the New Deal threatened to destroy the bill of rights, turned his presidential campaign eastward across the continent today from Los Angeles.

"If we are to preserve our American form of government, this administration must be defeated," the Republican nominee told a cheering throng that Police Captain H. C. Brawster estimated at 75,000 in the huge Los Angeles Coliseum last night.

In a 40-minute radio speech, the longest of his campaign thus far, Landon said "planned society, which is the alternative to representative government, has destroyed freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion."

The Los Angeles visit also was marked by Landon's issuance of a formal statement replying to a speech in Washington by Secretary Ickes who described the Kansas as a "state socialist." Landon in his reply said the New Deal spokesman had switched their attack upon him to "a puppet of big business" to "the ground that I am a socialist and the enemy of big business."

He compared the campaign move to "throwing the ball around wildly attempting to score" and charged "this is typical of the confusion and contradictory policies" of the administration.

During his overnight Los Angeles visit, Landon called included Fred Margrett, California organizer for the Townsend old age pension movement, and Bernard MacFadden, the publisher.

Abuse of Power.

In his speech, Landon criticized "abuse" of the power of congressional investigation, mentioning a recent inquiry of which, he said, "the thinly veiled purpose apparently was to discredit a political movement which the controlling party wished to crush."

Some observers interpreted his remarks as referring to the investigation of the pension movement sponsored by Dr. F. E. Townsend of Los Angeles. Townsend has urged followers unable to vote for William Lemke, Union party nominee, to cast their ballot for Landon.

Landon contended the present administration, "when the crisis was over," instead of giving up "its extraordinary powers," asked for more and "seemed obsessed with the idea that it had a mandate to direct and control American business, American agriculture and American life."

"They tried to tell our farmers how much they could plant and how much they could not plant," the Kansas said.

"They tried to tell our business men how much they could produce and under what conditions they could run their business," he said.

"They tried to tell labor who could and who could not represent them in negotiations with their employers."

Turning to federal spending, the Republican leader declared "the Chief Executive" has not hesitated to use the power given by "eight times as much discretionary spending power as was given to all of his predecessors together in 145 years of our history."

Use of Funds

There is "unmistakable evidence," Landon asserted, "that these vast funds have been used to force congressmen and senators to support administration measures." "To prevent criticism by officials and representatives of local communities," and "to prevent freedom of choice at the polls."

"Nothing can be more shameful than the way some of these federal funds have been distributed," the Kansas said, while the crowd roared, mingling applause and boos.

"Relief funds have been used in an attempt to force our less fortunate fellow citizens to vote for the return of this administration to power. Does this undermine our freedom?"

Again the crowd roared "Yes but your life," "I'll say it does," and "Yes, yes."

"Was this undermining of our liberties?"

The crowd roared "Yes." Landon asserted the administration "resented any criticism" and "cracked the whip on those individuals who refused to be led like sheep."

55,896 Voters In Ulster May Cast Ballots at Poles In Presidential Election

Election Board Finds Record Number Registered This Year—Grand Total Registration for 1936 is 2,396 More Than at Last Presidential Contest—New Districts Added.

Wants Fair Count

According to the figures on file in the office of the Ulster County Board of Elections there are 55,896 residents of the county of Ulster who are eligible to vote this fall. That is the total registration in the county of Ulster including the city of Kingston. In the county, outside the city of Kingston there are 39,961 persons registered, and the city of Kingston there are 15,935 persons registered, a grand total of 55,896.

The figures for 1936 are considerably greater than in the past. Last year the figures in the county, outside the city of Kingston, were 39,337. In 1932, the last presidential election there were 37,308 registered in the county outside the city.

In 1932, the last presidential election, there were 53,500 registered in the county and city of Kingston. Thus the grand total registration for 1936 is 2,396 more this year than at the last presidential election in 1932.

There have been added two election districts in the county this year, one in Ulster to be known as No. 4 and one in Ulster to be known as District No. 5. These additional districts were necessary in order to split up congested sections and make voting easier.

Saugerties Record.

Outside the city of Kingston the largest registration is in the first district of Saugerties where there are 1,123 persons registered. Woodstock No. 1, comes next with 1,019 registered and New Paltz with 1,004 registered is the third district in the county to exceed the 1,000 mark.

The second district of Denning with 106 registered is the smallest district in the county and likewise Denning has the record for being the town with the smallest number of voters. There are two districts with a total of 246 registered.

In Kingston the Second Ward with a total of 1,466 registered in the second district has the largest registration in any single district.

The Eleventh ward with 1,342 comes second and the first of the Twelfth ward with 1,265 comes in third. The Thirteenth ward with a total of 385 is the smallest ward in point of voters in the city.

Soviets To Force Aid For Spanish Loyalists By Sending Supplies

Russia Sees Salvation of Spain in Sending of Munitions to Aid in Safety of the Madrid Government.

FIRM STAND

Stalin Feels Europe is Drifting Toward War, Watches Germany and Italy.

Moscow, Oct. 21 (AP).—Soviet Russia, determined to force a supply of aid to beleaguered Spanish Socialists, has decided only the immediate dispatch of munitions can save Madrid, informed sources said today.

Soviet commissars were represented as having taken a strong stand for rushing airplanes to the desperately-driven Spanish government forces.

The Russian government, these sources said, has resolved not to yield an inch further in delaying counter-measures against alleged violations of Spanish neutrality by Fascist powers.

Russia has charged Italy, Germany and Portugal with sending assistance to Spain. Insurgents Soviet demands for "practical measures" to enforce the non-intervention accord signed by 27 nations have been delayed by the neutrality committee in London.

Officials did not hesitate to express privately the feeling that these are the "gravest" days Europe has seen in many years.

They are determined, they said, to adopt a firm stand as the only way to preserve European peace.

Posters in Russia

Overnight, hundreds of thousands of brightly-colored posters blazed up in the Russian capital.

"Hands off Spain," they said. The printed demand obviously aimed at alleged Fascist and Nazi influence in the Spanish revolt led to renewed clamor by Soviet workers for the Russian government to supply arms immediately to besieged Madrid.

While only the top men at the Kremlin know details of the decision taken by the government, enough information has seeped down to indicate Dictator Joseph Stalin feels Europe is rapidly drifting towards war—and the time to make Russia's voice felt is now.

Officials expressed belief all is to be gained and nothing lost by taking a strong stand against the Soviet's "natural" enemy—Germany.

For unless Great Britain and France can be aroused from what is regarded here as "lethargy," it is felt only a matter of time, not far distant, before Nazi troops will cross the Soviet border to realize the hope expressed in Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's recent speech at Nurnberg. These sources asserted.

Eyes on Russia

In that declaration, Hitler cast envious eyes at the fertile fields and rich mines of the Soviet. Outlining what Germany would do "if we had the Ural, if we possessed Siberia, if we had the Ukraine," the Nazi chancellor hinted at the possibility of war "with our old adversary."

Whatever happens in the Spanish war, an authoritative spokesman said, Russia will continue to recognize only the present Madrid government—even if the seat of government should be transferred to Barcelona or the president and his cabinet should flee Spain.

MRS. BOOLE SEES PERIL IN WOMEN DRINKING.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP).—Mrs. Ella Boole, world president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, asserted in an address here that drinking women "are laying the foundations" for future generations of "imbeciles and epileptics."

Speaking at the closing session of the W. C. T. U. state convention last night, the noted dry leader called on the delegates to "witness a great dress advertising Scotch and soda dresses, sized 17 to 20 years cocktail dresses and hats" as evidence that "advertisements are making liquor attractive" even to young girls.

To counteract this condition, she said, "we believe education, plus denunciation, plus personal example will ultimately bring about what we desire to accomplish."

Prohibition must return, Mrs. Boole added. "If we are to save the country."

SEVERAL CASES IN POLICE COURT BEFORE CULATON

Emil Bely of New York, arrested on a charge of train riding, was given an opportunity to leave the city when arraigned before Judge Culaton in police court. He was given an hour to get out of town. Last night Frank Monks of Cedar street was arrested by his son for causing a disturbance. This morning Monk was given a suspended sentence on his promise to behave. Arthur Bell was fined $2 for failing to observe a full stop sign.

City's Autocratic Board of Health

The Newburgh News in commenting editorially on the recent action of Kingston's health board to hereafter hold only secret sessions, barring the press from attending, has this to say under the heading "Autocratic Board of Health":

Kingston's Board of Health has worked itself into an Old World frame of mind over publication in newspapers of articles allegedly unfavorable to the board's welfare, as well as that of local physicians. Accordingly, it has locked its doors against newspaper reporters. Any way, says one of the physician members, "much of the board's business is of a scientific nature, beyond comprehension of both the press and the public."

When a Board of Health or any other public body assumes an attitude of this sort, it places itself under suspicion and proves that it has outlived its usefulness. Board of Health business is the public's business. If the Kingston Board thinks it is a law unto itself, that it is superior to citizens to whom it is answerable, and that it can treat newspapers with scorn, it is obviously laboring under a misapprehension which could best be cleared up by its wholesale resignation.

SPANISH PRESIDENT'S WIFE REACHES FRANCE

Toulouse, France, Oct. 21 (AP).—Senora Manuel Azana, wife of the president of Spain, has reached France from Madrid, it was learned today.

She came to Toulouse Monday amid great secrecy. She was alone. It was understood. She left Toulouse on the same day for an undisclosed destination.

It was believed Senora Azana accompanied the president as far as Barcelona and continued to France by rail. Azana and three of his ministers now are in or near Barcelona, possibly on an inspection tour.

Herrick Property Sold.

George S. Herrick has sold his dwelling located at 217 Lucas avenue to Dr. John A. Comstock. The Herricks will move in the adjoining property, the home of Dr. Comstock, a well known Wall Street dentist, will occupy his new purchase as his home and is planning to take possession in the near future. The sale was negotiated by Frank S. Hyatt.

Agreement on Spanish Policy Said to be One of Four Important Points in Nations' Accord, Rome Report Says.

ANARCHY RIFE

Talk of Spreading Anarchy Reaches France; British Navy Stands by; Loyalists Fight Bitterly.

Rome, Oct. 21 (AP).—Italy and Germany will recognize the insurgent government of Spain almost immediately after the Fascist armies occupy Madrid, well-informed sources declared today.

Agreement on Spanish policy was said to be one of four important issues on which the nations already are in accord after Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's first conversations with Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, Germany's foreign minister, in Berlin.

The other three were reported as their stands on the League of Nations, the Locarno treaty and central Europe.

Authoritative sources said Germany had agreed not to return to Geneva until the League of Nations was reorganized on lines of the Italian plan for a directorate of the great powers and until article 16 of the League covenant, on sanctions, was stricken out.

Germany and Italy both, the report said, want a new Locarno treaty based on the old pact and both reject the British idea of splitting it into two treaties—one for northern Europe and one for the south.

Rome and Berlin were reported to have agreed to divide the Danubian region into zones of commercial influence.

Ciano, Premier Mussolini's son-in-law, was promoted to the rank of general in the Fascist militia on the eve of his departure for Berlin to hold talks with Von Neurath and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

News of his elevation leaked out when photographs showing Ciano's arrival in the German capital reached here, disclosing him in the uniform of a Fascist general, with a gold eagle on his military cap and gold epaulettes on his shoulders.

Formerly he held the rank of consul.

Anarchy Spreads.

Paris, Oct. 21 (AP).—Tales of spreading anarchy, borne by refugees streaming into France from Spain today spurred secret conversations between Premier Leon Blum and the Argentine foreign minister, Carlos Saavedra Lamas, on the possibility of evacuating the refugees by air.

With reports indicating the last days of the Socialist Madrid regime may be at hand, Saavedra Lamas, whose country has been influential in freeing Spanish political hostages, conferred repeatedly with the French premier.

Officials maintained a careful silence concerning the conversations, but authoritative sources indicated the chances of bringing endangered persons into France by airplane were discussed.

Refugees were pouring into France in large numbers through Catalonia, one of the last avenues of escape for government supporters from the Fascist encirclement of Madrid.

(President Manuel Azana and three of his ministers have gone from Madrid to Catalonia, ostensibly on a tour of inspection of government troops.)

Some of the refugees said the "bloody days of reprisals" were beginning, with uprisings against extreme Leftists in some quarters and roundups of Rightists in others.

Violent reaction against anarchists was reported in some parts of Catalonia.

Spanish authorities in border towns have appealed for the help of Barcelona police, other refugees said. Reinforcements were rushed from the provincial capital to prevent roundups of border Rightists by the anarchists.

British Stand By

London, Oct. 21 (AP).—The British navy was ordered to stand by today for a "mission of mercy" to rescue thousands of hostages held by both sides in the Spanish civil war.

In messages to both the Madrid regime and the Fascist high command, the government stressed fear of wholesale massacre of hostages.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden instructed the embassy at Madrid and the ambassador at Hendaye, France, to press for early replies.

In a two-hour session today, the cabinet was understood to have paid slight attention to a Labor demand for immediate convocation of parliament to consider the Spanish neutrality situation. It was believed, however, the question will be aired on the regular scheduled opening day of parliament October 23.

As for the hostages, informed observers said about 3,000 were held in Madrid alone. Many of them were said to be women and children.

Naval authorities kept in close touch with the situation, ready to send the British fleet to Spanish waters.

Hopes were keen that the and Bureau governments would up the humanitarian measure.

Long Voting Hours Approved, Firemen To Get Referendum

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—Campaigning legislators returned to their home districts today to renew the drive for votes after setting up election machinery to handle the extremely heavy vote indicated by unprecedented registration.

A bill extending the Election Day voting hours from 6 to 9 p. m. and another granting a referendum on an eight hour day for New York city's firemen were passed yesterday by an extraordinary session of the legislature.

Called by Governor Lehman to meet the twin emergencies, the session lasted just a few minutes more than three hours.

Under a political truce between the governor and leaders of the two major parties, the bills rode through both houses without opposition. Complete harmony prevailed, except for a brief exchange in the assembly where the Republicans took exception to the governor's emergency message accompanying the two bills.

The Court of Appeals ruled out a previous firemen's referendum bill on the ground that it was passed without an emergency measure from the governor, required under the home rule act.

In sending down the necessary emergency message yesterday, the governor had this to say about the previous bill:

"The speaker of the Assembly (the Republican leader, Ives) ruled that the bill could receive consideration and be passed without a home rule message. . . . It went to the Senate and it was again ruled that it could be considered and passed without a home rule message. . . . When I signed the bill I believed that it satisfied the provisions of the home rule amendment."

Says Governor Inaccurate
Oswald D. Heck, Republican floor leader immediately charged the governor with "inaccuracy" in referring to Ives.

Heck said Irwin Steingut, Democratic leader, was in the chair when the previous bill passed. But Steingut reported:

"The gentleman knows full well that when I was asked to preside in your absence (Ives) I did not intend to take over the prerogatives of the speaker's office. The fact remains that you people (the Republicans) had control of this House."

The new referendum bill carried a provision not included in the previous measure, that the eight hour day for firemen must be made effective by December 31, 1939 if the voters approve the proposal.

The election bill, extending the hours of voting to 9 p. m. throughout the state, provided that the four election officials at each voting booth in New York city would receive $14, instead of $10. It also provided for two extra clerks at $12 each in New York city where more than two voting machines are located in one voting place.

No Provision Update
No provision was made for extra pretensions of arbitrary rules—rules not made by Congress but by some appointed subordinate sitting at a desk in Washington, and fumbling with the business of the country."

Eyes on Russia
(In that declaration, Hitler cast envious eyes at the fertile fields and rich mines of the Soviet. Outlining what Germany would do "if we had the Urals, if we possessed Siberia, if we had the Ukraine," the Nazi chancellor hinted at the possibility of war "with our old adversary.")

Whatever happens in the Spanish war, an authoritative spokesman said, Russia will continue to recognize only the present Madrid government—even if the seat of government should be transferred to Barcelona or the president and his cabinet should flee Spain.

MRS. BOOLE SEES PERIL IN WOMEN DRINKING

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Boole, world president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, asserted in an address here that drinking women "are laying the foundations" for future generations of "imbeciles and epileptics."

Speaking at the closing session of the W. C. T. U. state convention last night, the noted dry leader called on the delegates to "witness a great store advertising Scotch and soda dresses, sized 17 to 20 years cocktail dresses and hats" as evidence that "advertisements are making liquor attractive . . . even to young girls."

To counteract this condition, she said, "we believe education, plus denunciation, plus personal example will ultimately bring about what we desire to accomplish."

Prohibition must return, Mrs. Boole added, "if we are to save the country."

City's Autocratic Board of Health

The Newburgh News in commenting editorially on the recent action of Kingston's health board to hereafter hold only secret sessions, baring the press from attending, has this to say under the heading "Autocratic Board of Health":

Kingston's Board of Health has worked itself into an Old World frame of mind over publication in newspapers of articles allegedly unfavorable to the board's welfare, as well as that of local physicians. Accordingly, it has locked its doors against newspaper reporters. Any way, says one of the physician members, "much of the board's business is of a scientific nature, beyond comprehension of both the press and the public."

When a Board of Health or any other public body assumes an attitude of this sort, it places itself under suspicion and proves that it has outlived its usefulness. Board of Health business is the public's business. If the Kingston Board thinks it is a law unto itself, that it is superior to citizens to whom it is answerable, and that it can treat newspapers with scorn, it is obviously laboring under a misapprehension which could best be cleared up by its wholesale resignation.

She came to Toulouse Monday amid great secrecy. She was alone. It was understood. She left Toulouse on the same day for an undisclosed destination.

It was believed Senora Azana accompanied the president as far as Barcelona and continued to France by rail. Azana and three of his ministers now are in or near Barcelona, ostensibly on an inspection tour.

Agreement on Spanish Policy Said to be One of Four Important Points in Nations' Accord, Rome Report Says.

ANARCHY RIFE

Talk of Spreading Anarchy Reaches France; British Navy Stands by; Loyalists Fight Bitterly.

Rome, Oct. 21 (AP)—Italy and Germany will recognize the insurgent government of Spain almost immediately after the Fascist armies occupy Madrid, well-informed sources declared today.

Agreement on Spanish policy was said to be one of four important issues on which the nations already are in accord after Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's first conversations with Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, Germany's foreign minister, in Berlin.

The other three were reported as their stands on the League of Nations, the Locarno treaty and central Europe.

Authoritative sources said Germany had agreed not to return to Geneva until the League of Nations was reorganized on lines of the Italian plan for a directorate of the great powers and until article 16 of the League covenant, on sanctions, was stricken out.

Germany and Italy both the report said, want a new Locarno treaty based on the old pact and both reject the British idea of splitting it into two treaties—one for northern Europe and one for the south.

Rome and Berlin were reported to have agreed to divide the Danubian region into zones of commercial influence.

Ciano, Premier Mussolini's son-in-law, was promoted to the rank of general in the Fascist militia on the eve of his departure for Berlin to hold talks with Von Neurath and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

News of his elevation leaked out when photographs showing Ciano's arrival in the German capital reached here, disclosing him in the uniform of a Fascist general, with a gold eagle on his military cap and gold epaulettes on his shoulders. Formerly he held the rank of consul.

Anarchy Spreads

Paris, Oct. 21 (AP)—Tales of spreading anarchy, borne by refugees streaming into France from Spain, today spurred secret conversations between Premier Leon Blum and the Argentine foreign minister, Carlos Saavedra Lamas, on the possibility of evacuating the refugees by air.

With reports indicating the last days of the Socialist Madrid regime may be at hand, Saavedra Lamas, whose country has been influential in freeing Spanish political hostages, conferred repeatedly with the French premier.

Officials maintained a careful silence concerning the conversations, but authoritative sources indicated the chances of bringing endangered persons into France by airplane were discussed.

Refugees were pouring into France in large numbers through Catalonia, one of the last avenues of escape for government supporters from the Fascist encirclement of Madrid.

(President Manuel Azana and three of his ministers have gone from Madrid to Catalonia, ostensibly on a tour of inspection of government troops.)

Some of the refugees said the "bloody days of reprisals" were beginning, with uprisings against extreme Leftists in some quarters and roundups of Rightists in others.

Violent reaction against anarchists was reported in some parts of Catalonia.

Spanish authorities in border towns have appealed for the help of Barcelona police, other refugees said. Reinforcements were rushed from the provincial capital to prevent roundups of border Rightists by the anarchists.

British Stand By

London, Oct. 21 (AP)—The British navy was ordered to stand by today for a "mission of mercy" to rescue thousands of hot-heads held by both sides in the Spanish civil war.

In messages to both the Madrid regime and the Fascist high command, the government stressed fear of "wholesale massacres" of hostages. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden instructed the embassy at Madrid and the ambassador at Hendaye, France, to press for early replies.

In a two-hour session today, the cabinet was understood to have paid slight attention to a Laborite demand for immediate convocation of parliament to consider the Spanish neutrality situation. It was believed, however, the question will be aired on the regular scheduled opening day of parliament October 22.

As for the hostages, informed observers said about 4,000 were held in Madrid alone. Many of them were said to be women and children.

Naval authorities kept in close touch with the situation, ready to send the British fleet to Spanish ports.

Hopes were keen that the Madrid and Burgos governments would take up the humanitarian move. It was

Mrs. Pruden Recalls Birth of Kingston

The story "A City Is Born" which told the history of the birth of Kingston as a city, and which ran serially in The Freeman last week, being brought to a close Monday evening, has aroused considerable favorable comment, especially among the older residents of the city who recall the stirring days of the fight between the villages of Kingston and Rondout each seeking a city charter.

H. L. Van Deusen, a member of The Freeman staff and writer of the story, today received an interesting letter from Mrs. Fred Pruden, a former resident of Kingston, but now of Stamford, Delaware county. Mrs. Pruden writes in part as follows: "Pardon me for this liberty I have taken in writing to you, but I have been reading 'A City Is Born' concerning the city of Kingston and when it was first made a city. Very often I have thought of it and have wondered how many there are living who were out that first night to see the bonfires and hear some of the noise. It is all very vivid to me as I was then a girl over 16 years of age, and I can readily remember when the late Herbert Carl, then a young man, first opened his little store on North Front street and my mother bought the first hat that he sold.

"I wish that you might find some person whom I could talk with about old Kingston. My father had a shoe store on North Front street over 50 years ago, which The Thing Company bought a little later."

"...a shoe box nailed to the wall"

In the telephone's infancy, a business man was approached on putting in a telephone. He replied: "When one gentleman wants to talk with another, he goes to see him instead of trying to shout through a shoe box nailed to the wall."

We were reminded of his statement at the time of a recently reported 12-million-dollar deal consummated in a 6-minute telephone conversation between New York and Stockholm, Sweden.

Within a man's lifetime, the telephone has reached out over virtually the whole globe. It has made a neighborhood of nations. And whether it's a business transaction running into millions or a housewife's call for a head of lettuce, the telephone reduces time to a minimum. New York Telephone Company.

ALBANY STEEPLEJACK SCOFFS AT "BUNK" IN PUBLIC MIND

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—For 22 years, James E. Kilroy has been doing those breath-taking stunts in perilous perches, required of members of the steeplejack profession, yet to Kilroy, it's just another day's work at pretty good pay.

Kilroy, who just completed the job of oiling the cables on the 204-foot Albany-Rensselaer bridge, "debunked" much of the public estimation of the hazards attendant on a steeplejack's job.

"Very frankly," he said, "I don't take chances—I can't afford to, for there are three little boys at home, the oldest six years and the youngest 20 months. Most people's ideas of a steeplejack's work is wrong. A job like greasing cables isn't half as bad as it looks, but it's as dirty and nasty as I ever have."

Kilroy is 48, and he expects there will be 12 or 15 years more of the business of taking jobs where one misstep means a plunge to death.

He doesn't believe in the talk about never looking down from great heights. "Sure I look down," he said. "Why not? That talk is just bunk."

One hundred hotels, each with 210 rooms, would have been required to furnish sleeping accommodations for the passengers who nightly occupied berths in Pullman cars in 1935.

Sign of Landon Victory Seen In Lake Katrine Egg

Those who "believe in signs" will have no further doubt, after hearing a story that comes out of Lake Katrine today, that victory certain and sure will perch on the Landon and Knox banner November 3.

Proof of the absolute veracity of the story—in fact, the sign itself—was to be seen in the office of County Treasurer Pratt Boice this morning, where it was the cause of many expressions of wonder and amazement on the part of patrons of the office and others who had heard of the portent and hastened to see it for themselves.

Mr. Boice said that he intended to take the exhibit over to the office of County Chairman Philip Elting and undoubtedly by this time it is in the safe possession of the Republican leader of Ulster county, to be shown, under proper safeguards, along with that other early season significant sign, the potted sunflower, presented to Mr. Elting by George J. Mutari.

The sign is also a sunflower—but not the product of human hands. This sunflower is embossed, by purely natural processes, on the shell of an egg laid by one of the high grade pullets belonging to Robert Morehouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Morehouse of Lake Katrine.

Robert is one of the leading 4-H Club members of Ulster county, who has won numerous prizes for his poultry projects, but he never dreamed that he would raise a hen whose eggs would achieve a position of national importance.

The sunflower, which is nearly round, is an unmistakable replica of the Landon sunflower buttons, lacking only the name and the dark center. It is about an inch and a quarter across the width of the shell and slightly longer the other way, with the petals distinctly indicated around the entire circumference.

Robert presented the egg, with its mystic sunflower, emblem, to Mr. Boice, and the latter, in turn, presented it to Mr. Elting.

Unbiased Opinion Anent Cleon Murray

The following editorial appeared in an Orange county newspaper, The Middletown Times-Herald, of October 9, 1936:

AN ISSUE IN ULSTER

In Ulster County the political contest this year apparently is centered on the re-election of District Attorney Cleon B. Murray of Ellenville. The issue is reminiscent of contests in Orange, the question of rotation in office and whether experience counts for anything in the qualifications of an important functionary in public service.

Mr. Murray offers his success and experience as reasons why he should be elected for a third term. His adversary thinks he has held office long enough, an argument made against every official who has been in service long enough to become fully acquainted with the duties he is required to discharge.

Unless Ulster abandons a wise custom, however, that argument is not likely to make much impression. Since 1896, a period of forty years, Ulster has had beside Mr. Murray only four district attorneys, Judge Stephan, Judge Cantino, Judge Cunningham and Judge Traver. All of these, with the exception of Judge Stephan, served three terms before they were promoted in public service by ballot of the people.

In each case their experience was a prime factor in re-election. So it should be in Mr. Murray's. He has been an able official, a prosecutor on the order of our own Mr. Hirschberg. He has vigorously prosecuted offenders in the categories of major crime, with an excellent record of success. He also has competently handled other items of business devolving on the county's chief law officer.

It is history recent enough to be retained in popular memory that the district attorney of Ulster was an important functionary during construction of the Ashokan Dam and aqueduct for New York city. There is another water project of as great magnitude under way for the metropolis within the territory of Ulster, and Mr. Murray logically relies on the assumption that the people of his county will prefer to retain in office a man of his experience in the law business of the public.

MUNICIPAL JUNIOR BAND AND ORCHESTRA HELD MEETING

On Sunday afternoon in the Municipal Union hall an enthusiastic group of young musicians met for the purpose of organizing a Junior Band and Orchestra under the leadership of Roger Baer.

Mr. Baer in greeting the young folk outlined briefly the work and pleasure before them. Mr. Baer also made it clear that this new organization would in no way conflict with any other musical alliances they might have.

Robert Isman spoke a few words to the group and his experiences as a member of Kingston's old Symphony Society. He felt there was a similarity in the organizations, the effort being entirely voluntary.

John Cole of the Municipal Union expressed pleasure over the movement.

Mr. Bell of Stone Ridge, Mrs. H. Van Nostrand, Mrs. R. Craft and Walter Tremper added a few words of encouragement and congratulations.

Sunday at 2 o'clock in the Municipal Union hall, Leventhal building, Wall street, a second meeting will be held.

When the "Greater Things" conference meets at the First Dutch Church in Kingston on Friday a capacity crowd is anticipated. It promises to be the greatest day that the Reformed Churches of the Kingston area have ever experienced.

The representatives of one church travelled a distance of 200 miles in order to attend the conference. Every church is urged to have a 100 per cent attendance at the meeting on Friday evening.

The afternoon session beginning at 3:30 o'clock will be devoted in large part to seminars or discussion groups.

Whiting Fredenburgh presiding at the organ.

FARMER'S INGENUOUS CORN-CUTTER COST LITTLE

Baldwinsville, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—With an investment of $2, Robert C. Siellinske, a farmer who lives near here, took an old saw blade, a couple of two-by-fours and two wheelbarrow wheels and converted them into a workable corn-cutter which enables him to clear five acres in less than a day and a half.

The cutter is the second designed by Siellinske, who not only works his farm, but in his spare time is building a house to replace one which burned a year ago. The farmer claims his cutter works fully as well and is as sturdy as types sold by farm machinery manufacturers for $20.

When the radio code call MEDICO goes on the air, all other signals, except SOS, are silenced immediately. As is SOS, MEDICO is an emergency call but MEDICO is an emergency for an individual and not for a ship. In other words, it means that somewhere on the high seas a human being is facing death because of accident or illness. There still are ships that do not carry doctors, though officers of all American vessels are required by law to have had first aid instruction. If the emergency is too serious for the master and his officers to handle, he sends out the call together with a description of the trouble. The message, received by the Radio Marine corporation, goes immediately to a physician of the United States public health service. No matter the hour of day or night, or no matter how many thousands of miles away the patient may be, he receives the benefit of medical skill immediately.

Varied indeed are those messages that start with the call MEDICO. Down near the Galapagos islands, a big bug bit a sailor's hand. The hand swelled rapidly and the forearm became affected. Ordinary treatment brought no results. The public health doctor recommended a saturated solution of epsom salts together with a soft diet. After some further exchange of radiograms, came the captain's report: "Patient recovering rapidly. Thank you." A sailor off the coast of California developed an abscess on his leg. Hot applications and an opiate brought relief. A fifteen-year-old girl swallowed an open safety pin. Not much could be done except give her an opiate and put into the nearest port. But an ambulance was waiting there and an operation saved her life. So it goes 24 hours a day.

In checking the spread of contagious diseases, MEDICO also plays its part. For instance, when seven cadets aboard the California State school ship, became ill with meningitis, the Grace liner Santa Paula was contacted through MEDICO and serum was transferred to the school ship. No further cases developed. There have also been a number of instances where MEDICO has caused liners to deviate from their courses so that surgeons might perform emergency operations. The service has been in existence for the last 15 years. It started with a small wireless station at the Seamen's Church Institute through a $5,000 gift from the late Henry A. Laughlin of Philadelphia. Later Owen D. Young and David Sarnoff became interested and took over the operation to the RCA network.

Speaking of the Seamen's Church Institute brings Mrs. Janet Roper to mind. To sailors she's "Mother Roper." As head of the missing seamen's bureau, during the last 21 years, she's succeeded in locating more than 5,000 vanished sailors for worried mothers and wives. She has established contacts with sailors' missions and sailors' boarding houses all over the world and each month she mails to those places a bulletin containing the name, age and description of each man she is seeking. The bulletin is posted in places where seamen congregate and scanned by men of ships of all nations. There is one significant line: "This bulletin is not published to locate those sought by the law." The addition was made necessary by lawyers and collection agencies seeking to find sailors through "Mother" Roper's bureau.

Mrs. Roper knows her sailor men. For 47 years she has been doing seamen's mission work, having started teaching a sailors' Sunday school class in Boston at the age of sixteen. Subsequently, she was connected with missions in Gloucester, Mass., and Portland, Oregon. She is the only member of her family who has been connected with the sea in any way. In addition to heading the missing seamen's bureau, she is also house mother.

Mayor LaGuardia has succeeded in putting the Park avenue pushcart men under cover. The pushcarts of the past were not down in the snooty sector where the railroad tracks run underground but up where they travel on an elevated structure with big stone arches. A market was built under the tracks and the pushcart men went into business there, the city charging a nominal rental. Those with whom interviews were attempted were evasive as to what difference the move made in trade conditions. Business could be better, they admitted, and at the same time, it could be worse.

Talked with a pushcart man in Times Square. He sells candy, with each kind in a neat section bearing a card stating the price. Police give him a lot of trouble. They enforce the law that he can't stop except when he is making a sale. The trouble is, he continues, that sales are so low that if some cops didn't have hearts, he'd walk his legs off trying to make a living.

Action in Court On Who Owns Farm

An action brought to set aside an alleged conveyance of real estate was taken up in court this morning. Milton C. Bryon of Saxton brings an action against his sister-in-law, Vena H. Bryon, and her two children to secure title to a 65 acre farm which he alleges belongs to him and upon which he now resides.

The plaintiff alleges that despite this understanding the farm was sold to a third party who in turn transferred it back to Mrs. Vena Bryon, wife of Dr. Bryon of Connecticut, and that later she deeded the farm to plaintiff. This deed was never recorded and it is now alleged to be lost. Title is sought however by plaintiff on the ground that from the facts in the case and also because of no consideration ever having been paid by Vena Bryon she never had title to the land and that therefore when in 1931 or 1932 she transferred title to her son and daughter that she had no right to do so and the plaintiff claims this transfer is void and he seeks to have the court place him in ownership.

The defendants on the other hand claim that there was an agreement between the parties and that Milton was a tenant on the farm and was expected to pay rent to Mrs. Bryon through her husband. Defendants claim that in 1925 Mrs. Bryon asked for an accounting from her husband and that in the transaction the farm was transferred to Mrs. Bryon because of back rent due her. At that time it is claimed by the defendants that Mrs. Bryon signed a paper which she now claims she believed was an agreement to rent the farm to the plaintiff. At the time she claims the paper was presented by her husband and she had faith in his acts and did not carefully examine the paper. It is the contention of the defendants that if this were a deed it was not at the time known as such to Mrs. Bryon when she signed it.

In 1921 believing she had title to the property Mrs. Bryon transferred title to her son and daughter. Later it developed plaintiff, Milton C. Bryon, claimed he held a deed dated in 1929 for the land. It is now claimed this deed has become lost.

Joseph Avis appears for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant.

Local Y.M.C.A. Pays Honor to Osterhoudt

James E. Osterhoudt was Director of Local "Y" When It Was Organized Here in 1870—Present Board Pays Honor To Him At Meeting.

Monday evening the board of directors of the local Y. M. C. A. at its meeting paid honor to James E. Osterhoudt, who served as one of the directors of the local association when it was organized here in 1870. Mr. Osterhoudt, who is in his 87th year, is still active. He was present at the meeting as a guest of the board and was presented with a life membership in the association as a token of the appreciation of the work he had done for the local association in past years.

Mr. Osterhoudt thanked the board and spoke briefly of the growth of the local "Y" in the years that had passed since it was first organized.

Mr. Osterhoudt, who will be 87 years of age on October 23 said that the Kingston Y. M. C. A. was organized in September of 1870, in the loft above the drygoods store of James O. Merritt on Wall street. After a few years on Wall street the association moved to new quarters on John street.

Mr. Osterhoudt recalled the days when he was one of the men active in the association who went out each year to solicit funds with which to carry on the work of the association. He recalled that some years after the organization of the "Y" in the village of Kingston, a similar association was formed in the village of Rondout, and he was one of those instrumental in organizing the "Y" in Rondout.

In later years the Y. M. C. A.'s of the two villages were consolidated and took over the Grand Central Hotel, the hotel in which was held the jollification meeting when the charter was granted to the City of Kingston combining Rondout and Kingston into one city, as outlined recently in a series of sketches that were published in The Freeman.

The Grand Central Hotel was later replaced by the present structure. Mr. Osterhoudt who enjoys excellent health has a most retentive memory and relates most interestingly the events of the early years of the Y. M. C. A.

Henry Lowe Hurt While Hunting Here

Stickles Avenue Youth May Lose Sight of an Eye as Result of Wounds—First Hunting Accident of Season Reported Here—Carried Two Miles by Hunting Companions Seeking Help.

Henry Lowe, 19, of Stickles avenue, is in the Kingston Hospital for treatment for gunshot wounds received while hunting in the woods off Linderman avenue extension, just outside the city limits. Lowe and David Hughes of 399 Washington avenue, were out in the woods hunting and had become separated when Hughes saw a squirrel in a tree and took aim and as he pulled the trigger of his shotgun he was horrified to see Lowe standing in range, and swerved the barrel enough so that only part of the charge of shot struck Lowe.

Lowe was struck in the face over one eye and in the leg. He dropped to the ground. Hughes ran to his side and raised him from the ground and the two hunters then started to walk to the nearest telephone. They were about two miles from the nearest telephone and on the way Lowe fainted several times and Hughes was forced to half carry and half drag him.

Reaching the nearest house that had a telephone Hughes called police headquarters and Sergeant Charles Phinney and Officer Fred Stout drove out to the house. They placed the wounded man in the car with them and rushed him to the hospital, where it was later stated that Lowe might lose the sight of one of his eyes as a result of one of the shot lodging just over the eye.

WOODSTOCK MAN PAYS $25 FINE FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Cecil Chichester, 45, a Woodstock artist, was arrested on the Plank Road, just over the viaduct, Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Ray Wigne of Stony Hollow, on a charge of reckless driving. He was arraigned before Justice Walter Weber of Lake Katrine, who imposed a fine of $25. Chichester paid the fine.

The Deputy said that Chichester, who was coming from Kingston, was driving all over the road and when he took after him in his car forced him nearly into the fence.

workers in upstate communities because election officials outside of New York city already have limited discretion as to the number of workers required and their compensation.

In addition to the two emergency measures, the legislature also passed a bill appropriating nearly $14,000 for expenses of the session.

The three bills went immediately to Governor Lehman, who signed them before departing for Utica to renew his upstate election campaign. Official estimates indicated the cost of the extra election service to the public, including the expense of yesterday's session of the legislature, would range over a quarter of a million dollars. New York city election officials estimated the cost of keeping the polls open there an extra three hours would be at least $130,000. Other official sources estimated the cost upstate at $100,000.

Toronto Bureau Won't Say "Booh" In 'Baby Marathon'

Toronto, Oct. 21 (AP)—The simply furnished home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bagnato was astir today. In prospect was the birth of their 24th baby—the 10th under the rules of the $750,000 "baby race" endowed by Charles Vance Millar.

Downstairs, the younger children played. Paul, a mere 18 months, ran about as lively as a terrier pup—laughing, calling out.

On a sideboard a candle glowed in the symbol of religious devotion. On a wall hung pictures of Bagnato babies that have come before—10 of them now dead.

Just a few days ago Mrs. Bagnato received a telephone offer from a man who wanted to send her a baby specialist to guide her through her confinement, and to pay for her hospitalization.

"I can't say who he was," she said. "But he is one of Canada's best known men. But I'm afraid to have a stranger. I guess it will be Dr. Cohen. He's been with me for the last eight."

"It's ten weeks now since I've been to work. (Mrs. Bagnato is a court interpreter). I've always worked; 23 babies I've had, but I've never missed work so long before."

Three other mothers claim 10 births in the 10 years ending October 31. A fourth, Mrs. Matthew Kenny, confidently boasts of 12—with maybe a 13th before the Halloween night. But the payoff won't come on claims. The fortune will go to that mother who has given birth to the most children in 10 years as shown by the Bureau of vital statistics.

And the bureau isn't saying "booh."

"When You Are in Rome"

Do as Rome Does," Traced
"When you are in Rome do as Rome does," is one of the proverbs that are so old their origin is lost in the mists of antiquity. It is generally believed, however, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, that it arose from the following incident, given in one of St. Augustine's epistles:

"Augustine was in the habit of dining on Saturday as on Sunday; but being puzzled with the different practices then prevailing (for they had begun to fast at Rome on Saturday) he consulted St. Ambrose, the bishop of Milan, on the subject. The answer of the Milan saint was this: 'When I am here I do not fast on Saturday; when at Rome I do fast on Saturday.'"

Burton, in his "Anatomy of Melancholy," speaks of those persons who are always swayed in mind and action by their surroundings. "When they are at Rome," he says, "they do there as they see done."

Habits of the Antelope

The many types of antelope which inhabit Africa have been found to adapt themselves to various environments. Some swim and wade in swampy rivers, others become as sure-footed as mountain goats in broken rocky country, and others inhabit deep forests. Only the largest and fiercest antelope, like the eland, can exist on the open plain in sight of his natural enemies. The antelope of the plains depends upon speed to save him from lions and leopards.

Clouds Settle Over Plateau

Back of the suburbs of Cape Town, South Africa's largest city, steeply rises Table mountain, named for its level top. Not infrequently a layer of white clouds settles snugly over the plateau and they are called a "tablecloth." When billowing clouds from, Cape Towners remark that "Uncle and the devil are smoking fast today," alluding to the Malay myth that the Dutch pirate, Van Hunk, and the devil once staged a smoking contest.

Escapes Injury in Auto Accident

Dr. John A. Manzello of Milton escaped injury Monday when his Plymouth car was badly damaged at the four corners in Milton in a collision with a Chevrolet truck of Salvatore Cuomo of Highland.

At the time Dr. Manzello was driving down the old highway in the village and the Chevrolet truck of Mr. Cuomo was coming up from the river. They came together at the intersection. The Plymouth was damaged considerably, but both operators escaped injury. The accident was reported to Sergeant John Lockhart and Trooper Lynn Baker at Highland.

Browder Silenced By Egg Barrage In Terre Haute Visit

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 21 (AP)—Earl Browder, Communist candidate for President, the target for a shower of rotten eggs here last night, waited today for an apparently meaningless decision on an injunction suit after having failed for a second time to give a campaign speech here.

Several hundred persons blocked entrances to radio station WBOW last night. When Browder appeared they hurled rotten eggs and tomatoes at him. At least three persons were injured in fist fights.

Browder was unable to get into the station and retreated to his hotel room.

The injured included Harold Harris of Louisville, Ky., an Associated Press photographer, struck several times as he attempted to take a picture of the crowd. His camera was knocked from his hands.

Judge Albert Owens of the Vigo County Superior Court was to rule this morning on Browder's petition for an injunction to prevent police interference with his speech.

After a four and a half hour hearing yesterday Judge Owens withheld judgment in the case on motion of Browder's attorneys after he had indicated he would deny the petition.

Plans Campaign.
Browder said last night he would leave for New York at noon today to give a radio speech there Friday night. Then he said he would go to Tampa, Fla., for a speech Sunday and to Detroit for another address Tuesday.

The candidate was to have given his speech here at 11 o'clock last night, but an hour before time for the address the street in front of the radio station and the stairways leading to the studio were jammed with citizens.

When Browder arrived in a taxi cab the shower of eggs and tomatoes started. When he saw it was impossible to enter the station he went back to his hotel.

During the disturbance a tiny, five-foot girl, Miss Sylvia Penner of Indianapolis, who said she was a "Communist party worker", crowded into a hall leading to the station studio and offered to substitute for Browder.

Station officials turned down her offer, however, on advice of attorneys. When the hour for the broadcast arrived the station announced Browder had not appeared, and a musical program was broadcast.

Browder's previous appearance here, on September 30, resulted in his arrest on a vagrancy charge. He was released after 25 hours in jail, and his attorney read his prepared speech over the radio.

Harmonica Band Holds Practice

Two practices were called because the harmonica band has to play a doubleheader Thursday evening. The first engagement will be at the local Y. M. C. A., where a Republican Rally is to be held, under the direction of Paul Zucca. The second engagement will be at the First Presbyterian Church where a Country Store and bazaar is to be held; here the entertainment is to be under the direction of Don Van Gaasbeck. Those who wish to engage the band must make arrangements at least two weeks in advance, with the latter. Don Hicks leader of the band requests those who are to play Thursday, to be at the Y. M. C. Nation's Frozen Wealth

Reaches Into Billions

If the size of a nation's heart can be judged by the amount of money which its departed citizens leave behind them for humanitarian purposes, then America is the biggest-hearted nation in the world, writes James Monahan in Cosmopolitan. For each year, when the wills of the deceased are read, between two and three billion dollars are added to the enormous wealth which already stands set aside for the endowment of the various educational and charitable works which appealed most to the donors.

Of course, all of these bequests are commendable in purpose. Many of them are so carefully devised that they will probably withstand all the changing conditions of the years to come. But others are committed so definitely to the dogmatic notions of the donors that within a short time they, too, are destined to die, and the millions of dollars they represent will be added to the nation's staggering pile of "frozen wealth."

Many of these obsolete bequests date back to the early years of the republic, when the owners of the nation's first wealth fashioned their posthumous charities in the spirit of the times in which they lived, confident that things would always be pretty much as they were then.

But the "frozen wealth" which has been piled up in the past still confronts us with its greenish-golden stare. What will become of it? One guess is as good as another. These billions lie in the bone yard of American philanthropy, an object lesson for the people who have money to give away.

From the frequency with which our editorial Clippings are held up by dinosaurs, we seem to have been deluged about the "Pacific Ocean."

Roosevelt Opens New England Fight

Providence, R. I., Oct. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt opened two days of New England campaigning today with a declaration that "We will not again allow people to be regimented by selfish minorities into bankruptcies and breadlines."

Standing on the steps of Rhode Island's capital and addressing his remarks to industrial populations especially, the Chief Executive said: "You have been told of regimentation. I am opposed to the kind of regimentation under which you labored and suffered in the days of false prosperity and in the days of the great depression."

Asserting that people "are even more important than machines," he added: "We believe that the material resources of America should serve the human resources of America."

The President's address, comparatively brief and first of five scheduled for the day in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, was delivered shortly after breakfast. Mrs. Roosevelt met him at the station and motored through crowded streets to the capitol with him. Gov. Theodore F. Green headed a welcoming committee.

Kaufman Gets 90 Days

William Kaufman, 37, of Corona, L. I., who was arrested at Marlborough, October 6, by Sergeant Lockhart, following some difficulty at his home and held on a charge of assault in the third degree, was taken before Justice John Rusk, Jr. of Marlborough Tuesday for a hearing. The Justice found him guilty and imposed a sentence of 90 days in the county jail.

Complainant—He did.
Attorney—How could he reach your face with his feet. He is not a tall man.
Complainant—He knocked me down first, sir.

What the mother of a couple of flapper daughters would like to know is what they mean by talking about slavery having been abolished.

A mother discovered her small daughter, aged three, busily engaged in washing the kitten with soap and water.

Thy Why of a Squeak
A question that's been puzzling me of evenings now, this many a week, Did anybody ever see a summer porch that didn't squeak?
I've tried them here, I've tried them there, from seashore up to mountain peak.
But still I'm searching everywhere for one porch swing without a squeak.

An executive who is a great believer in efficiency recently hung up a sign in his office. It said: "DO IT NOW." Within 24 hours the cashier had bolted with the contents of the safe, his stenographer eloped with his oldest son, the office boy threw the ink bottle into the electric fan, and the whole office force struck for a six-hour day.

Carl—Thought you had a date with Helen tonight?

Walter—Well, when I saw her leave her house at five minutes of eight with some one else I got sore and called it off.

All in all, the world seems to be getting just a little bit better every day. Candidates can't flop their arms or kiss babies over the radio.

ZENA

Zena, Oct. 21.—On Friday evening several members of the local Christian Endeavor Society enjoyed the Halloween party given for them by the young people of the First Baptist Church of Kingston.

Mr. Fred Thalitz moved to New York city on Wednesday to be joined by her family in their new home there.

TIPS ON CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL
Psychic Overall

What would you do with a solid suit if the player on your right started the auction with a bid of one no trump?
Most players would pass on the theory that the bidding of the solid suit would steer the opening bidder and partner into a safe suit contract. They would refrain from doubling a no trump game contract in the expectation that they could set the declarer and a double would result in a suit declaration instead of no trump.

In auction days a favorite ruse was for the possessor of a solid suit, sitting over a no trump bidder, to bid another suit. Partner of the opening bidder, having that other suit stopped, would raise the no trump and the owner of the solid suit would double successfully.
In contract such a ruse works against those to whom it is new when the opening no trump bid is a bit stretched. Take this hand:

NORTH
♠	A 10 5
♥	K 7 3 2
♦	A K Q 8 6 4
♣	Q 4
WEST
♠	Q 2
♥	A K Q 8 6 4
♦	A K Q 8 6 4
♣	Q 4
EAST
♠	Q 7 4 3
♥	K 7 3 2
♦	A K Q 8 6 4
♣	Q 4
SOUTH
♠	A K Q 8 6 4
♥	K 7 3 2
♦	A K Q 8 6 4
♣	Q 4

Over South's bid of one no trump Mark Warnow, New York musical director, had the nerve to offer two spades. He had ideas. His meadow of hearts, of course, would steer North and South from no trump. If he should be doubled he could turn to hearts. North took the bait, hook, line and sinker. Having spades stopped twice, he said two no trump.

The declarer, having bid no trump without a real heart stopper, should have been suspicious in view of his two spade honors, but he also fell and bid three no trump, which West doubled. West took the first seven tricks with hearts to set the contract three.

Balanced hands such as South's sometimes succeed at no trump game contracts because the suit in which the hand is weak is divided between opponents, but the better players will usually sound out the situation before trying no trump with such a weakness.

Had South opened the auction with one spade, West would have overcalled with hearts. North would have raised the spades, and North and South would have been in the right suit with a play for game.

Over West's perceptive overall North had two courses of action that would have exposed the nature of the spade bid. He could have doubled and South naturally would have passed. West then would have had to bid hearts. Or North could have passed the spade bid, and South would have doubled with the same result.

The hand shows the danger of opening bids of one no trump with a weakness. It was a case of light fire with fire, a psychic counterstroke to a bit of a psychic bid.

"Creative Living" Talk at Comforter

The Church of the Comforter Men's Club held a very successful meeting Tuesday evening with an approximate attendance of 30 members and friends.

After the business session was finished, the Rev. Harold J. Hoffman of the Stone Ridge Reformed Church gave a very fine address on "Creative Living," stressing the triangle standard of body, mind, and spirit, with special emphasis on spirit. The minister pointed out that men of today should be men of vision who are able to live understanding lives and thus regain the lost spirit as found in ancient art and literature.

Throughout his address, the Rev. Mr. Hoffman inserted bits of humor that brought forth much favorable comment among the audience. The evening was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments and the playing of darts ball.

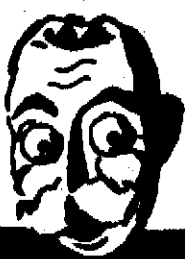

SHADY FOLK PLAN HALLOWEEN SUPPER

Serving of the supper will begin at six o'clock, continuing until all are served. People are invited to attend clad in costumes appropriate to the night when the ghosts are supposed to prowl and black cats and witches linger in the shadows.

Trinity Choir Variety Show

On Tuesday evening, October 27, at 7:45 o'clock, the choir of Trinity M. E. Church will present a variety show in the lecture room of the church. The program will include a group of negro spirituals by the men's chorus, several numbers by the women's chorus, instrumental music, shadow pictures, a short play, vocal solos, a group of rhythm band selections, and several other novelty numbers. The program in detail will be published later. A very small admission will be charged for this unusual program.

Avenues Of Fashion with Esquire

SATURDAY'S CHILDREN

We can't resist digressing from the fashion theme of this column to comment on the fact that even the smartest of football fans don't disdain the plebian hot dog. Our illustration presents two particularly well turned out old grads enjoying the "red hot," and a very charming young lady who seems entirely pleased. A smart, cheerleader, single-breasted suit with three buttons and high rolling lapel is worn by the gentleman at the left. This is an excellent example of the use of this much favored fabric in a suit that is as much at home in business as it is in the shadow of a stadium. His hat has the new, slightly wider brim and lower crown, and over his arm is the indispensable camel's hair polo coat. His Norwegian model brown calf shoes make appropriate footwear. The old grad at the right wears a smart, single-breasted plaid topcoat with peak lapels and raglan shoulders. You'll note that it is just a bit shorter, an indication of the definite trend to shorter coats. Let our caption seem too partial, we should mention that all the foregoing refers also to Sunday's children, who "enthusias" about the professional brand of football.

A waistcoat of brown suede is recommended not only for its smartness, but also for its protective qualities.

A shoe much favored by enthusiastic stadiumites is made of brown suede calf, has a blucher front and no toe cap; the sole is heavy, either leather or gum rubber.

You don't like to sit with your hands in your pockets, so we'd advise warm wool gloves, either in plain color or in unusual pattern, such as the one from Norway illustrated here.

Wool socks are essentials. The plain rib sock is both smart and conservative.

A knitted cashmere sweater coat, worn for additional warmth under your regular jacket, is the height of luxury.

Woolworth Venture Opens Friday, Week Earlier Than Plan

Unexpectedly rapid progress has been made in the work of remodeling and redecorating the store building recently acquired by the F. W. Woolworth Co., adjoining their present store on Wall street and it is announced that the new store, which will be run in conjunction with and as part of the old store, will be ready for the formal opening on Friday, October 23, about a week earlier than had been planned.

John Freer, superintendent of construction for Contractor George D. Campbell of Poughkeepsie, said this morning that they expected to have the work practically all completed today. This includes not only the work on the general contract but that of the Kingston sub-contractors, such as plumbing and heating, electrical work, etc.

Clerks have been busy for the past day or two arranging merchandise on the rows of tables and on the shelves that occupy the entire ground floor of the building and in some departments business was actually under way Tuesday afternoon.

The finishing touches are being placed on the fine new lunch counter and fountain installation and the modern air-conditioned kitchen which has been built in the basement is completed and awaits only the installation of the dish washer, when was to arrive today.

Capacity Doubles
The new store more than doubles the capacity of the Kingston Woolworth store and will give them an opportunity to greatly increase the amount of merchandise carried and to handle a larger variety of articles in the higher priced lines, with goods up to 95 cents in value. The work of remodeling and equipping the new store represents an outlay of around $10,000, outside of the purchase price of the building and will give Woolworth one of the most complete stores of its kind in this section.

The newly acquired store, purchased by the Woolworth Company from the Herbert Carl Estate, was for many years conducted by G. A. Hart & Co., followed by the Wonderly Co., who occupied the site for a long term of years until their removal to the new Wonderly store across the street. It was last occupied by the E. E. Randall Co.

Large archways connect the new store with the one adjoining in which the Woolworth Co. has been doing business for years past and which is continued, the two merging into one large store.

Biblical Drama Is Entertaining

The "First Commandment," with approximately 75 Kingston people taking part, was dramatized last night at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church before a fair sized audience. The players were garbed in the authentic costumes of the Biblical times, and this feature together with appropriate lighting effects, made up an evening's entertainment that was pleasing and educational. It gave a very clear conception of the story of the receiving of the "First Commandment," "Thou Shalt Have No Other God Before Me."

The drama opened with the scene of Joseph's brothers plotting his downfall. Joseph in his coat of many colors arrives, and his brothers seize him and sell him into slavery in Egypt. Then, because of his ability to interpret Pharaoh's dream, Joseph is made ruler of Egypt under the guidance of Pharaoh. While in this capacity, Joseph is given the opportunity to forgive his brothers for their plotting against him and thus return good for evil.

Then the scene changes to some years later when the new Pharaoh is oppressing the people of Israel and Moses and Aaron plan to lead the people through the Red Sea and the Wilderness to the Promised Land. The plagues that God sends to the Egyptians and the story of the receiving of the Ten Commandments by Moses and the worshipping of the golden calf are all woven into the presentation.

The final part of the drama portrays the birth of Christ, with the shepherds and wise men presenting their gifts.

The whole entertainment is rather cleverly arranged so that it takes the form of a story being told by a grandfather to his two grandchildren; and the mother and father of the children are also persuaded to hear the story of the "First Commandment."

MISS MCINTYRE DEFENDS
WPA WORK AMONG CLASSES

The Works Progress Administration draws no lines between white collar workers and manual workers, between artists and mechanics, engineers and accountants, architects and farmers, in its program of work designed to meet the needs of men and women out of work through no fault of their own, and in need of help.

Miss Anne McIntyre, state director of women's and professional problems in the upstate New York WPA, told the Rotary Club of Morris heads today at the luncheon meeting.

Miss McIntyre traced the history of WPA from its establishment a year ago to its present statewide organization. She stressed the variety of work which had to be provided to meet the needs of all classes of unemployed men and women and pointed out that every WPA project now operating, whether employing manual labor or professional personnel, originated in the local community where officials watched for the value of the project and estimated and assisted in the operation of them.

For the seventh year, New York state will take part in the nationwide radio broadcast on November 7 in honor of achievements of 4-H club members. The celebration is a cooperative affair, broadcast jointly by the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges.

"MA" STREETER DIES, FIGHTING

Emma Lockwood Streeter, 63, widow of Cap'n George Wellington Streeter (both above), died in Chicago to terminate a famous 20-year fight for her claim to squatter's rights to $350,000,000 worth of property on Chicago's "Gold Coast." Through much of their lifetime "Ma" and the "Cap'n" fought with legal weapons and a shotgun or two for their imagined claims to the rich Lake Michigan shore property. (Associated Press Photo)

— COUNTY — Christian Endeavor NEWS —

Convention Program

The program for the 45th annual Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union Convention to be held at Clintonville on Saturday afternoon and evening, November 14, has been arranged by Chairman Milton P. Townsend of Napanoch, as follows: Two o'clock, registration; 2:30, song service led by Dick Talleur, greetings from president, devotional period by the New Paltz society and business session. Address by the Rev. W. W. Kamp with offertory, solo by the Rev. D. S. Haynes. There will be three conference groups, the first being on the topic, "Why Christian Endeavor," led by the Rev. Earle W. Gates; the second will be on "Building a Christian World" with the Rev. W. W. Kamp as leader; and the third group will discuss "Music in Society Meetings" with Dick Talleur in charge. 5:30 will be the serving time for the banquet, and then at 7 o'clock activities will be resumed with a devotional service in charge of the Comforter Endeavorers, and followed by another business session. The address of the evening will be delivered by the Rev. Earle W. Gates, new general secretary of the New York State Union, and then the installation of the newly elected county officers will be observed, thus bringing to a close the convention program.

Golden Jubilee Year
On November 10, 1886, five years after the organization of the first society, the New York State Conference of Christian Endeavor was founded. The history of the movement in the Empire State has been a glorious one, filled with achievements of deep significance.

Thus in November, 1936, comes the Golden Anniversary period, and it is suggested that Sunday, November 8, be set aside as New York State day in special observance of this important anniversary. Individual societies should plan special programs, tracing the work of the past fifty years with general sketches or pageants.

Schedule of Flying Squadron

The schedule of the newly organized "Flying Squadron" has been released by Miss Mary Langwick, and the first meeting that this group will sponsor will be at New Hurley on October 25 at eight o'clock. On November 1, the "Squadron" will be at Flatbush; November 8, at Stone Ridge; November 20, at Zena; November 22, at Katashan; November 23, at Port Ewen; December 6, at Clintonville. The complete personnel of the group has not as yet been decided but announcement will be made as soon as possible as to the various speakers.

Hudson River Union Convention

The 42nd annual convention of the Hudson River Union of Christian Endeavor will be held Saturday afternoon and evening, October 24, at the Reformed Church of Leeds. The afternoon session will begin at two o'clock with the Rev. W. S. Ruch of Coeymans, and the Rev.

Ira M. Stanton of Catskill, as the speakers. The evening session will commence at seven o'clock with the Rev. Arthur Oudemool of Kingston as the principal speaker. Invitations are extended to Endeavorers of this vicinity to be present.

New Paltz Meeting

The re-organized New Paltz Christian Endeavor Society held a fine meeting last Sunday evening with 30 members present. Miss Rose LeFevre was the leader of an excellent discussion. County President Miss Mary Langwick was a visitor. Next Sunday's meeting will take the form of a supper with the prayer service afterwards. The New Paltz members are also planning their part in the afternoon devotional period of the county convention.

Comforter Discussion

Frank Elmendorf led the Comforter Endeavorers in a fine discussion on the topic of "Resistance" last Sunday, with 20 people present. Next week's topic will be, "Does World Peace Start at the Breakfast Table?" and the leader will be Donald H. Smith.

First Reformed Campfire

The Endeavorers of the First Reformed Church of Kingston will hold their next meeting about a campfire at Dashville Falls, the date being October 25.

Lecture at Zena

Friday evening the Zena Society was treated to an illustrated lecture by Nelson Lewis, county vice-president, assisted by Harry Rappleyea. The members are planning to attend a social at the Albany Avenue church and are also making arrangements for the county convention.

Port Ewen Intermediates

The Port Ewen Intermediate Christian Endeavor Society conducted its first meeting of the season at the home of the secretary, Betty Walker, on Friday evening, October 9, at eight o'clock. Ideas for the promotion of future meetings of the group were thoroughly discussed.

News Items

All news items for this weekly column should be sent to Henry P. Elmgren, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y., to arrive not later than Tuesday noon preceding date of publication. Material that arrives too late will be inserted the following week provided the contents warrant it.

Katrine Supper

The Lake Katrine Home Department will hold its roast pork supper in the Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, Thursday, October 22, starting at 5:30 o'clock. The menu: Roast pork, turnips, potatoes, carrots, onions, apple sauce, cranberry sauce, cabbage salad, rolls, apple pie and coffee.

If concrete or masonry steps are to be installed, be sure the ground on which they are to be placed is solid and not recent fill. Filled ground settles over a long period and the steps will settle with it.

Union, N. J.—When Sam of Tax Collector Charles D. Shaw threatened to keep his name off a campaign banner hung outside the Union Republican Club, the club's president objected.

The president, Ernest A. Green, was in the minority, but he got his way. He bought the banner and dictated what could go on the sign. The building cost him $15.

Tulsa

Chicago—The court order obtained by Mrs. Marie Francell authorizing her to seize her husband's papers in New Orleans proved useless.

Her husband, Lawrence, 40, had already effected the transfer of the property when she arrived at the tavern. His body was found hanging in the basement. A note explained his suicide.

Barnet Declared "Tops," Prepares to Play Legion Ball

The signing of Charlie Barnet and his Glen Island Casino Band to furnish the music for the American Legion Victory Ball at the Municipal Auditorium on November 11, is meeting with general approval. Judging from the comments heard, Barnet's organization is "the tops" in furnishing the popular type of sophisticated dance rhythm. Many people have heard him broadcasting during the past summer and he has many number of "must" listeners in this city.

Overlooking the waters of Long Island Sound, in the heart of smart Westchester county, is the Glen Island Casino. This is a testing spot, if there ever was one, for any dance band in the world. In the spring of 1936, every famous orchestra in Manhattan auditioned for the job at the Casino. Charlie Barnet's orchestra played and prayed. The management heard and hired.

Young Westchester cottoned to Barnet immediately. The debt had a glassy eye for such a handsome maestro and the bucks got kicks from the band's style of synchronization. It is a by-word in the music business that if young Westchester arrives and applauds, young America will second the motion.

In addition to Barnet and his orchestra, Jack Linton and his Clinton Ford Pavilion orchestra will be on hand to alternate in furnishing the dance music. Linton's popularity is proven by the number of people that frequent the popular Rosendale resort.

First Bobcat Eyed
Massena, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—Lawrence Perkins, 30, exhibited today a bobcat caught in St. Lawrence county. His uncle, Amos Horton, connected with the state conservation department for 30 years, said it was the first ever taken in the county. Perkins caught the animal in a trap. It is 24 inches tall, four feet from tip to tip and weighs 75 pounds.

If all railway bridges in this country were placed end to end they would extend 3,860 miles, a distance greater than from New York to San Francisco.

New Offer for Stock Exchange Of Central Hudson

It was announced today by Ernest R. Acker, president of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, that a modification of the proposed plan for refunding the outstanding 6 percent preferred stock of the company with new 4 1/2 percent preferred stock was being made in order to comply with a ruling of the commission for the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with the registration of the new issue under the Federal Securities Act.

The change affects only the method of carrying out the plan which in all other respects will remain the same as previously announced.

Under the plan announced September 30, over 90 percent of the outstanding 6 percent preferred stock has been deposited with the company for exchange on the proposed basis, namely, one share of new 4 1/2 percent stock plus $2.50 in cash for each share of 6 percent stock exchanged with dividend adjustment to the date of exchange.

The company is now advised by counsel for the Securities & Exchange Commission that no such offer of exchange can properly be made by the company and accepted by its stockholders until after the effective date of its registration statement, which it is expected will be October 21, 1936. The offer of September 30, 1936, and all acceptances thereof must therefore be disregarded.

Italy, Nazi To Recognize Fascists

recalled, however, that an attempt by foreign ambassadors at Hendaye to "humanize" the war, in August, failed—so bitter were the hatreds splitting Spain.

Eden's step temporarily shifted international attention from the heightening tension arising over Russia's anger against alleged violations of the non-intervention pact by Fascist powers—Italy, Germany and Portugal—and the "complacency" of the British attitude.

Pitched Battle In Ethiopian Jungle

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Oct. 21 (AP).—A pitched battle in the jungle near Lake Margherita, in southwestern Ethiopia, was being fought today by the left wing of an Italian division penetrating the lake country of the conquered African kingdom.

Dispatches reaching the Italian command here said several hundred Ethiopians and a few Italians had been killed.

A wing of the column, under Colonel Martini and made up of Italian artillery, Somali troops and a native Arab unit, engaged 1,200 Ethiopians in a dense tropical forest. The Ethiopians under Dedja Araga, attacked the Italian front flank and rear simultaneously. The Italians held off the assault and then counter-attacked, with their artillery rendered useless by the jungle.

Union Party Is Ordered Off Ballot

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP).—Supreme Court Justice Gilbert V. Schenck issued an order today prohibiting the Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn from placing the Union party ticket on the New York state ballot November 3.

Justice Schenck held invalid the petitions nominating presidential electors and a state-wide ticket for the Union party, whose candidate for President, Representative William Lamke (R-ND) had the endorsement of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin.

The ruling came on a second attempt of the Union party to win a place on the ballot after signatures on its petitions had been challenged by William E. Driscoll and Dr. O. A. Brennenstuhl, Albany Democrats, who charged that the entrance of the Union party into the New York state campaign was "at the instance of the Republican state committee."

Sidney F. Kansas, Union party candidate for attorney general, said Justice Schenck's decision would be appealed immediately to a special term of the appellate division convened today by Governor Lehman to hear arguments on appeals of the Union and other parties whose pleas for a place on the ballot have been challenged.

Loyalists Savage

Madrid, Oct. 21 (AP).—Entrrenched Socialist troops, fighting savagely to stem a Fascist drive on Madrid, held dogged insurgents at bay today 20 miles from the Spanish capital.

The desperate defenders, reinforced by civilian recruits rushed from Madrid, held their positions during an insurgent bombardment and countered with deadly attacks of their own.

The government line blocking the Fascist drive jogged southeast from field headquarters north of Huesca through Yebes, Aguas and Seseña to the highway between Madrid and Aranjuez.

Deploying from the Socialist concentration near Torrejon de La Calzada, the Madrid warriors attacked insurgent positions at Azana, Pantos, La Alameda and Anover de Tajo on the Tago river.

"So far we have succeeded in halting the rebel advance on Madrid," exulted General Jose Ascaso, Socialist commander.

General Ascaso asserted recapture of Huesca, occupied by insurgents Sunday, was "imminent."

"We still hold strategic positions at Algodor and Castillejos (both important communications centers on the Tago)," he added.

A rain of steel over the rolling countryside accompanied the attacks and counter-attacks. Fascist planes dropped scores of bombs on government artillery batteries and the socialist gunners replied with unceasing fire.

Ray Winne Shoots A Golden Pheasant

Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne of Stoney Hollow shot and killed a golden pheasant, which had a tail about three feet long, while hunting on the John Walker farm near the Ulster County Gas Club range. The beautiful bird is now in the hands of a taxidermist for mounting. Golden pheasants are very rare in this locality, but Ray is a real Indian when it comes to hunting and killing and can be depended upon to find 'em if they're there.

Dewey Arrests 9, 5 Sought by Law In Racket Drive

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—A swift, dynamic blow at a racket claimed to have extracted $2,000,000 from metropolitan restaurant owners brought the arrests of nine men, with five others sought today on indictments returned by a special grand jury.

Thomas E. Dewey, special prosecutor who estimated the financial yield of the racket, charged the accused men not only extorted and terrorized the proprietors of 300 of the biggest restaurants in the city, but controlled two labor unions and plotted the slayings of at least two union officials.

"These men betrayed labor and robbed it," he said, "this indictment means the freedom of labor from their clutches."

He traced the racket, operating through the Metropolitan Restaurant and Cafeteria Association, to 1932 and the day of the late Arthur Flegenheimer (Dutch Schultz). Four of the men were named in the indictment as those who took over the leadership of the organization after Schultz was slain by other gangsters.

Those accused: Paul N. Coulcher, 55, Aladar Reitek, 38, and Charles B. Baum, 55, officials of Local 16, Hotel and Restaurant Employees International Alliance and Bartenders Union.

John J. Williams, 47, and Max Pincus, 55, officials of Local 302, and Irving Epstein, 32, official of Local 60, Delicatessen and Restaurant Countermen's Union.

Abraham Cohen, 34, attorney, Phillip Grossel, 41, and Harry A. Vogelstein, 33, officials of the Metropolitan Restaurant and Cafeteria Association. The association also was indicted.

Maroon Moves Store To New Location

D. J. Maroon, who for many years has conducted a confectionary store at 492 Broadway, adjoining the Central Post Office building, has now vacated the building and reopened in the former Trainor building at 448 Broadway, corner of East O'Reilly street, which he recently purchased.

Mr. Maroon's brick building adjoining the post office was purchased by the federal postoffice department to make room for the new addition that is to be built to the Central Post Office building. In order to make room for the new addition the Maroon building on Broadway will be torn down, as well as the two-story frame residence in the rear of the Maroon building, which faces on Prince street. The residence property has also been vacated, and is now owned by the government.

Just when the actual work of construction on the post office job will start is not known.

Mr. Maroon when notified that the government planned to take over his brick building was forced to seek other quarters and finally purchased the former Trainor building. He has had considerable alterations made to the building, and will use the upper floors of the building for his living apartments. He is now conducting his business in his new location.

G. O. P. Committee Denies Pay Charge

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Republican National Committee issued a denial today that its nationwide publicity release of September 21, naming 20 New Jersey WPA workers as participating in "payroll padding," had charged that these employees were carried on two payrolls.

The release was intended to say, a spokesman for the committee declared, that the workers were paid out of a project payroll while listed as administrative employees, and that the effect of this was to make the cost of relief work appear higher than it actually is, and the cost of administering such work lower than it is.

I. V. Davis, of Newark, attorney retained by the New Jersey workers who have demanded a retraction from the Republican National Committee, said he would not accept this re-interpretation of "payroll padding" as an exoneration of his clients in lieu of the demanded retraction.

William H. J. Ely, WPA administrator for New Jersey, said the committee's statement "appears designed to imply deception in the transfer of the 20 workers from administrative to project payrolls, whereas in truth there was no deception and no cue from which any well-intentioned commentator might infer such deception."

MEETING OF TB AND PUBLIC HEALTH COMMITTEES.

By a strange coincidence a meeting of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health which was to have met about a week ago was postponed to last evening and was held at the office of the president, Judge Joseph M. Fowler.

That meeting was to arrange for the next Christmas Seal sale for the raising of money for the carrying on of Camp Happyland, the tuberculosis nurse and other health projects in which this committee is engaged. By the postponement the meeting fell on the evening of the death of Miss Lillian Hagelweide, and in spite of the importance of carrying on the work through the seal sale, the thought of the passing of Miss Hagelweide seemed uppermost in the hearts and minds of the committee for Miss Hagelweide had been exceedingly efficient, devotedly interested and loved tuberculosis nurse for the committee for seven years prior to her being appointed head nurse at the Tuberculosis Hospital.

Even more than that, the inception of the idea of Camp Happyland was in the mind of Miss Hagelweide, who in her visits to homes where there was tuberculosis and consequently contacts endangering the children, was greatly distressed in heart.

Appreciating this and also the loss beyond replacement that has come to the community in the death of Miss Hagelweide, the committee devoted some time to expressions of regret over the loss of such a loyal and over-interested friend of the committee.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to the final arrangements for the coming Christmas Seal sale which will begin on Thanksgiving Day. As the people of the entire county well know the sale of these little seals—bearing this year a very modernistic Santa Claus—will be what will raise the money necessary for the carrying on of Camp Happyland and our wonderful tuberculosis nurse, Miss Katherine Murphy, next year.

Close to 100 little underprivileged children were cared for at the camp this summer, leaving healthy in body, mind and spirit, ready to fight even those invisible enemies of all of us, tuberculosis germs. That is something to think over very, very carefully before refusing to buy Christmas Seals as some do or have done.

This will be also the thirtieth birthday of the sale of Christmas Seals in Ulster county and birthday presents for the occasion that started all of the tuberculosis work in Ulster county will surely be in order. The committee concluded its arrangements for the coming sale, and letters containing the seals will be sent out to reach the people of our county the day after Thanksgiving. As every one can buy at least five or ten cents worth of seals and so many can buy as many, many more seals, the committee asks that this year's sale be in the nature of a memorial to Miss Hagelweide, and a birthday celebration of the seal sale, for Miss Hagelweide would have been very glad to have it so.

Bleakley Works on Finance Speech

En route with Bleakley campaign caravan, Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP).—Holling over the highways of central New York, William F. Bleakley, Republican candidate for governor, worked today on the draft of his first major speech on finances which he said would be aimed at exploding the "myth of Lehman, the banker."

The first talk will be given tonight at Rochester, after stops during the day at Auburn, Geneva and Canandaigua, with others planned at Syracuse on Friday and at Albany on Saturday.

All will be broadcast over statewide radio networks.

In his speech here, the Republican standard-bearer again criticized Governor Lehman for what he said was "neglect of state employees" through refusal by the governor to aid Republican legislators in expediting passage of the eight-hour day law.

The nominee repeated his criticism, he said, because of the large number of civil service employees in this city, home of Auburn Prison. Bleakley said the governor "reluctantly" signed the bill for an eight-hour day in state institutions "only after pressure became heavy."

U. S. Leper Hospital Described Today To Health Group

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.

New Orleans, Oct. 21 (AP)—A person with leprosy can go anonymously to Leper Hospital at Carville, La., change his name while there and if cured, leave the place to resume his real identity, his experience never to be known outside of the hospital's secret records.

This hospital, its record, runways and apparent cures, were described to the American Public Health Association here today by the institution's medical director, Dr. H. E. Hasseltine.

"Some patients," he said, "desire to conceal their identity when entering the hospital. In such matters we cooperate to the fullest extent possible. The patient may take an assumed name. The true name being given in confidence."

"Many people have the erroneous belief that we maintain a strong guard and an unclimbable fence around the reservation. There is no armed guard. There is a fence, mainly to keep livestock outside."

"A goodly portion of our absconders return voluntarily, and many report that the hospital at Carville is preferable to living elsewhere in this cruel world."

From 1894 to 1921 this hospital was the Louisiana leper's home. In 1921 the federal government took it over, changing the name to the U. S. Marine Hospital.

Open Y. W. C. A. Fall Membership Rally

As always the auditorium at the Y. W. C. A. on Henry street was packed last evening on the occasion of the Y. W. C. A. fall membership rally for these occasions are always highly anticipated.

A particular attraction for Tuesday evening was the presentation of a play, "The Future Has a Past," which it had been announced would be given by the Board of Directors. Mrs. G. N. Wood, president of the Y. W. C. A., welcomed the large audience very cordially and explained to those present the need of an ever increasing membership if the Young Women's Christian Association of Kingston is to make the progress in the future that it has in the past. The rally was being held to open the membership drive. Those who so desired could pay their dues either at joining at the time or for renewal of their membership last evening or give them to any one who might call upon them with an invitation to join. Mrs. Wood further announced that the report meeting on the results of the drive would be in the nature of a friendly luncheon to be held at the Y. W. hall on Tuesday, October 27, at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Hollister Sturges will be the speaker. Reservations for the luncheon should be made by Monday at 11 o'clock.

In the presentation of the fall program Mrs. Wood called upon the presidents or leaders of the various groups to tell of their activities, either already or about to begin, as follows:

Mrs. Clyde Hutton, president of the Young Married Women's Club, told of the activities of that club with its two meetings a month on Thursday afternoons; of the coming fall party, and following social affairs including dances and a fashion review. There will also be speakers on several subjects, notably among them Rabbi Bloom who will speak on "Currents and Cross Currents of the American Scene." Mrs. Hutton closed by inviting the young married women not already members of the club to join them.

Mrs. Edna Skinner, president of the Business Girls' Club, told with great enthusiasm of the activities of that club which meets for a good supper and social time each Wednesday evening at the Y. W. C. A., at which time they too have outstanding speakers. Rabbi Bloom will give his same lecture on "Currents and Cross Currents of the American Scene" at tonight's supper. They have informal bridge parties, draughts, Christmas gift making, social service, summer picnics and outings. The club will be glad to add more business girls to their membership role.

In the absence of account of illness of Mrs. Josephine Mortell Dederick, president of the Kingston Chorister, Mrs. Mortimer Downer, vice-president, told of the meetings under the directing of Harry P. Dodge; the Christmas Concert when the Christmas Cantata, "The First Christmas," will be given; of the spring oratorio when the Chorus will, in conjunction with a Mendelssohn's oratorio of St. Paul and of the get-acquainted parties. Mrs. Downer invited those enjoying such musical activities as theirs to join their club.

Miss Florence Markle gave an interesting account of what the Industrial Girls' expected to do. She explained the club was divided in two groups, the Y. G. B. I. girls who meet on Mondays at 7:15 o'clock and for the younger girls, the "Wa-Hoo Club", of which Miss Markle is president and which meets on Thursday evenings at 7:15 o'clock, and also of the noon luncheons. These girls are enthusiastic and able helpers in the Y. W. C. A. campaigns besides having their own excellent programs. They, too, would be glad of more members.

Miss Katherine Millard is the industrial chairman. Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Girl Reserve chairman, told of the program for these girls, eight years old and on into high school age, including health and education features, club projects, recreation, outings, handicraft, service work, club ceremonials, boy and girl parties for high school students, and then said that she felt sure that the leaders of the different groups could tell of their own particularly group much more interestingly than she could. Mrs. Graham then called upon Miss Priscilla Nolan of the High School Clubs, the Live Yers (Freshmen) and the Tri-His (Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors) who meet on alternate Fridays each week with one supper meeting each month. She told of the Christmas party given for the children of the Industrial Home, of the annual circus, the Mother and Daughter banquet, their assisting in the "stay-at-home camp" and other kindred activities which all greatly enjoyed and found helpful.

The next young lady to tell of the greatly appreciated Y. W. work was Miss Dorothy Schick, who spoke for the Grade School Clubs which are T. M. T. M. Club, Friendly Triangles Club, Blue Triangle Club, Amon Ra Club, Busy Bee Club, Ever Ready Club, Pep Club and Cheerio Club for the negro girls. Those present learned from her of the Gypsy Pattaran joined in by 121 grade school girls, of the anticipated Halloween party and the Christmas party, of basketball games, with a team for each school, the winner's team receiving a silver cup and other interesting things that these girls enjoy because of the Y. W. C. A.

At that point Mrs. Graham resumed the thread of her story which had been so well carried by the young people, and gave a vivid picture of the 500 girls of fewer years who come to the Y. W. each Saturday from 8 to 10 a. m. and Saturday with wings unfolded for they are "The Blue Birds" of the Y. W. From this big group Patricia Craft and Gladys Avery had been chosen to present the children's idea of the Y. W. which they did very cleverly and enthusiastically, as two little girls, one a Blue Bird, the other not, who met.

The enthusiasm of the Blue Bird and her very evident pleasure in telling of all the good times the Blue Birds have, made the "Not" little girl want to be a Blue Bird and of they skipped to see about her becoming a member of the Blue Birds.

Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell, chairman of the educational department, gave a bird's eye view of the work of that department so ably carried on by the secretary, Miss Estey, assisted by Miss Martin, by Miss Herdman, the Girl Reserve secretary, assisted by Miss Millard, which included the securing of speakers, of dancing and swimming classes.

In connection with the matter of swimming, Mrs. Treadwell found that brought them into cooperation with the Y. M. C. A. and called upon Mr. Sisson, the new Y. M. C. A. secretary, to speak a few words. This Mr. Sisson did very graciously, taking particular note of the fact that the greatest asset of any community was its youth. To help develop the Christian character of that youth was a great and deep privilege, he felt.

Mr. Sisson expressed his interest in and appreciation of the program which he had just heard unfolded and then spoke a very particular word about the swimming—with the entirely freshened and perfectly sanitary pool now in readiness. The Y. M. secretary brought the greetings and best wishes of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. The program was varied very pleasingly at this point by vocal solos, "Dreaming" and "In a Luxembourg Garden," sung by Miss Laura Bailey accompanied by Harry P. Dodge, representing the Kingston Chorister.

Then came the fun—pointing a lesson that was greatly enjoyed in the learning of the evening, when the ladies of the Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A. presented the exceedingly clever play, "The Future Has a Past" by Barbara Abel. The cast was as follows:

Virginia Harrison—Mrs. Raymond Rignall.
Hazel Morris—Miss Dorothy Brooks substituting for Miss Mary Staples.
President—Mrs. G. N. Wood.
Mrs. Smithers, house superintendent—Mrs. Frederic Holcomb.
Miss Hastings—Mrs. M. Donald Lane.
Mrs. Tillinghurst—Mrs. Myron Teller.
Mrs. Thatcher—Mrs. Charles Terwilliger.
Mrs. Williams—Mrs. John W. Matthews.
Mrs. Hancock—Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell.
Mrs. Bronson—Mrs. Robin Stelle.
Mrs. Wheeler—Mrs. Howard Lewis.
Coach, Mrs. A. Noble Graham; stage properties, Miss Mary Staples; costumes, Mrs. Howard Lewis.

The story of the play most cleverly, feelingly, dramatically portrayed by the ladies of the Y. W. was to the effect that two 1936 young Y. W. girls busily engaged in making a frock for a Y. W. entertainment for which one of them had to give a historical report, discussed what it must have been like to belong to the very first Y. W. C. A. going back to 1877 and one of them just wished she could have known those women, with their seeming prejudices, and "queer" ideas. Stretched out on the chaise longue looking over the old records while her companion "basted" a hem in the skirt of the gown she was to wear as a "costume" she fell asleep with the book in her hand.

Scene two was enacted on the larger stage and was a very spicy and illuminating reproduction of the opening of a Board of Directors' meeting of 1877, showing the various officers and ladies of that august body in the picturesque costume of that time. Incidentally an absentee member was excused on the ground that she was expecting her two nieces from Boston and might be late in arriving at the meeting. Just then the two 1936 girls, by some chance stumbled into the meeting just in time to hear about the nieces and made believe that they were those nieces. Their delight in actually being present at the very meeting they had wished to attend and their amazement at the density of the older women as to girls' problems were equalled only by the shock given to those older women by some of the girls' accounts of their own Y. W. some 50 years ahead of their time. The girls were the day, too, in their plea for a better understanding and wider liberty for the girls, just as the belated member of the board appeared and explained with great disappointment that the nieces had not arrived after all. Just as the predicament of the girls seemed crucial, the lights faded and the dream was over, but the memory of it remained as an inspiration.

The costumes of the ladies were most effective and historic and the conversations exceedingly human and to the point, resulting in one of the best plays ever put on at the Y. W. C. A.

Following this delightful and entertaining program refreshments—apples and sweet cider—were served, the social hour being in charge of Mrs. Teller, Mrs. Matthews and Miss Elaine Phillips, assisted by a group of Business Girls.

4th Republicans To Meet This Evening

A meeting featured by the presence of several prominent speakers will be held tonight by the Fourth Ward Republican Club and the Ladies' Auxiliary at the clubhouse, 140 Delaware avenue, starting at 8 o'clock. Preparations are being made for a large attendance. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

Along with the politicians who are running this year, it's surprising how many on both sides are just taking a walk.

MODES of the MOMENT

Iceland Blue Is New Fall Color

Iceland blue—a smoky, grey-green-blue—is a new and striking color launched this season. Del Monte Hickey makes an entire ensemble—hat, dress and seven-eighth length coat—in wool of this shade. A coral suede belt adds a colorful touch to the dress and a big collar of natural blue fox finishes the coats.

A. going back to 1877 and one of them just wished she could have known those women, with their seeming prejudices, and "queer" ideas. Stretched out on the chaise longue looking over the old records while her companion "basted" a hem in the skirt of the gown she was to wear as a "costume" she fell asleep with the book in her hand.

Scene two was enacted on the larger stage and was a very spicy and illuminating reproduction of the opening of a Board of Directors' meeting of 1877, showing the various officers and ladies of that august body in the picturesque costume of that time. Incidentally an absentee member was excused on the ground that she was expecting her two nieces from Boston and might be late in arriving at the meeting. Just then the two 1936 girls, by some chance stumbled into the meeting just in time to hear about the nieces and made believe that they were those nieces. Their delight in actually being present at the very meeting they had wished to attend and their amazement at the density of the older women as to girls' problems were equalled only by the shock given to those older women by some of the girls' accounts of their own Y. W. some 50 years ahead of their time. The girls were the day, too, in their plea for a better understanding and wider liberty for the girls, just as the belated member of the board appeared and explained with great disappointment that the nieces had not arrived after all. Just as the predicament of the girls seemed crucial, the lights faded and the dream was over, but the memory of it remained as an inspiration.

The costumes of the ladies were most effective and historic and the conversations exceedingly human and to the point, resulting in one of the best plays ever put on at the Y. W. C. A.

Following this delightful and entertaining program refreshments—apples and sweet cider—were served, the social hour being in charge of Mrs. Teller, Mrs. Matthews and Miss Elaine Phillips, assisted by a group of Business Girls.

Kingston Opens Season Tonight Against Kate Smith's Celtics

Earlie Husta, "the flying Dutchman," and his Kingston Colonials hope to shellack the Celtics tonight at the Municipal Auditorium for an appropriate opening of their cage season.

"I hope we can win tonight," said Earlie this morning, "to get off on the right foot here in Kingston. But it will be no easy task."

CARLIE HUSTA

Husta was thinking of those youngsters Kate Smith has signed to play with the Shamrocks. They have added speed to the ranks of the famous old team that once held the professional basketball championship of the world.

Bobby McDermott, best shot of the Visitations in the American League last season, is with the Green and White squad to lend plenty of scoring power, besides a Celtic touch by the use of his name. Two other youngsters are Bill Nash, ex-Columbia star, and Paul Birch, Duquesne luminary last season.

The rest of the Celtic roster is made up of the old-standbys "Dutch" Dehnert, originator of the famous shot play; Dave "Fatty" Banks, Pat Merlihy and Nat Hickey.

Tonight's battle will bring out one of those brother-against-brother affairs. It will be between the McDermotts, two members of that clan being listed for combat. Bobby is with the Celtics and Milton, his brother, with Kingston.

"I've signed Milton McDermott," Frank Morgenweck told Kingston reporters when he announced his club roster, "and when Bobby comes with the Celtics there should be plenty of spicy action."

"I think I'll play Milt against Bobby and see what develops. I am glad that they scrap like tigers on the court, rivalry between them having cropped out in school-day games. They're not over it either."

Morgenweck said he had been informed that Milton McDermott is the only cager who can completely outget brother Bob, because he gets on his nerves and generally has him "all confused" by the end of the first period.

Morgenweck has not announced his starting lineup, and probably not until the whistle sounds at 8:45 o'clock.

Morgie's complete list of cagers ready for duty consists of Husta, Phil Rabinowitz, former Passaic star; Tiny Hearn, Fred "Corky" Lanton, Lloyd "Lefty" Kintzing, Joe Halpern, Ben Miller, Mike "Pip" Koehler, former star for Kingston in the old State League, who is assisting "Pop" with coaching duties.

There will be a preliminary at 7:30 between the Fuller Clements and Battery A players competing under the name of the Combination Five. The Fuller roster was announced yesterday. On the Combination are Larry Geisler, Jim Fraleigh, Benson Willette, Charles Bock, Mike Carano, Chet Barth and Joe Spitzer.

The doors of the Auditorium will be early to accommodate rush seat holders. Sale of reserved seats dictates a capacity crowd in that section.

Deadliest Mushroom

Many of the poisonous mushrooms are not easily distinguished from the edible forms. In fact the deadliest species, the Amanita phalloides, which causes 50 per cent of the deaths from this kind of poisoning, not only closely resembles but reacts like a wholesome mushroom in that it peels and will not blacken silver.—Collier's Weekly.

Kias Pushes Aerial Attack in Workout For Port Contest

A prolonged passing drill involving the first two units and the copy-righted clash between the alternate groups featured yesterday's activities at the Athletic Field. Coach Kias sent the first-string and the varsity substitutes hustling through a strenuous drill, emphasizing the offensive phase of the forward pass.

Both squads connected with a variety of aerials, both long and short, and some sparkling pass-grabbing was enacted by several of the contestants.

Although touchdowns were at a premium in the setto, George Rifenburg stole the show when he hawked the pigskin and set sail for deep right-field from the vicinity of the home plate. Huffing and puffing, "Rif" steamed up the side-line with the field in full pursuit. After reeling off some 50 yards, George was on the verge of being overtaken by Stoll, when he deftly lateralized to Tommy Malnes and then pole-axed Stoll with a brilliant block. It was a brilliant bit of heads-up ball, and Tommy continued on his way, aided by a neat block by Lou Voight. Although the aforementioned play was the crowning effort of blocking tactics, the interference was the best witnessed this year, and the afternoon's play saw several bits of clever blocking.

The third team then took over the field against the seconds, but were defeated when Jay DeWitt ripped through tackle to culminate a sustained march by the varsity subs. The seventh point came as a result of a deft pass from Schneider to Ashdown. Bob Delaney was forced off the field as a result of a slight injury but undoubtedly will be on the firing line for the Port Jervis fray.

During the early stages of the afternoon, the backfields were put through an individual tackling drill, while Line Coach Fuller supervised the actions of the linemen. Junior Varsity Coach Anderson hovered over his beloved third-stringers with the able assistance of Elmer Hopper, preparing them for their schedule of impromptu games on Saturday mornings. Coach Kias is faced with the necessity of having a capable set of reserves to relieve the regulars and while the backfield has several promising performers ready to step in, line candidates are unknown quantities on the whole. The front wall is certain to receive a sustained pounding in the Port game and undoubtedly several subs will be called on to fill the breach. On their performance in the emergency role, a great deal depends and the hitherto lowly substitutes may prove to be a potent factor in the final outcome of the local's first DCSO encounter.

Ross Wants Action Ready For Fight

Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP).—Barney Ross, welterweight champion of the world, today starts hunting for chins to punch.

Back from 17 days of roughing it in the Wisconsin woods, the 147 pound titleholder opened a training campaign preparatory to the first defense of his championship since he dethroned Jimmy McLarnin for the second time more than a year ago. He has signed to meet the winner of the Izzy Janazzo-Ceterino Garcia bout slated for New York October 30.

The title contest is set for Madison Square Garden November 27. The black-haired champion plans a busy winter season in America, since the collapse of negotiations for a bout with Jack Carroll, Australian challenger, originally scheduled for Sydney, on December 8. Charles Lucas, the Australian promoter, still is burning up the cables trying to reopen negotiations, but Sam Plan, co-manager of Ross, said he would give no further consideration to the Australian venture, so long as opponents are available in this country.

"We are getting Ross ready for the championship bout in New York next month," Plan said today. "We intend to have him box just as often as opponents are available. After meeting the winner of the Janazzo-Garcia affair, there is McLarnin in sight as a possible opponent, and also Lou Ambers. Ross is spoiling for a fight and chafing under the inactivity. He wants action and is ready for it."

Eleanor H. Jarrett Ignorant of Status

New York, Oct. 21 (AP).—Eleanor Jarrett will wait until Avery Brundage retires from the presidency of the Amateur Athletic Union and then ask the new A. A. U. regime whether she is a professional or an amateur.

"It's an embarrassing situation, but I really don't know where I stand with the A. A. U.," she said at her Long Island home today.

Back from a successful vaudeville tour, Mrs. Jarrett said the A. A. U. had officially barred her from European competition and had refused sanction to an amateur meet in which she was entered after returning from the Olympics, but it had not declared her professional.

"I'm hoping for the best, but I'm prepared for the worst," she stated. "I definitely want to know my amateur standing and see no reason why I should not. But if they declare me professional I will go on the stage with a vaudeville swimming troupe which will include most of the outstanding amateurs."

Mrs. Jarrett said her troupe probably would include Dorothy Poynton Hill, Jack Medina, Dick Deppner, Marshall Wayne, Leona Knight Winard, Adolph Kiefer, Georgia Coleman and Jane Fasana.

Early Wedding Rings

In Greek, Roman, early French and English wedding rings symbolic portraiture or "poetry" expressed the sentiment of the individuals or some specific part of the marriage vows. These sentiments became so complicated the church banned them and decreed that only a plain gold band should be used in the marriage ceremony.

Whale Sharks Harassment

Whale sharks are sharks that inhabit all tropical waters. They attain a length of 40 feet, and have small teeth. Their food consists of small fish and other animals strained out of the water by funnel-like gill rakers. They are harmless.

Stare on the Line

Familiar roundup figures on the line include Ed Widetz, Minnesota's co-captain and tackle; Joe Kouti, Texas A. and M. guard, who rates high among all southwest observers; Jim Hansen, Pennsylvania's stalwart center; and Larry Kelley, Yale captain and right end.

Kelley, who figured in the week's most unusual play as he booted a Navy fumble into a scoring range, has a fair for the postmaster. They call him "Longkicker Larry," but they also produced for Old Eli in the "Whitcheater" for three years. The Williamsport (Pa.) boy is Yale's most talented leader since Albie Booth.

Other ends who come well recommended this week: Jim DeWitt, Arkansas; Johnny Morrow, Texas A. and M.; Dwight Haffel, Washington University (St. Louis); George Schroeder, U. C. L. A.; Matt Pantano, Michigan; Lester McDonald, Nebraska; and John Kovatch, North Carolina.

Tacklers: Dave Gartin, Holy Cross; Bill Moss, Tulane; Averell Daniel, Pittsburgh; Chris Del Socco and Ted Livingston, Indiana; Joe Oiler and Walter Shinn, Pennsylvania; Red McKenna, Manhattan; and Chasley Toll, Princeton.

Guards: Ed Howell, Army, Rivers.

Football Tougher Than It Was, Says The Famous "Red" Grange

Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP).—Take it calling his surprise at the defeat from Harold "Red" Grange—the going is a lot tougher on collegiate football's big-time circuit today than it was 12 years ago when he ran wild as the famous Illinois "Galloping Ghost."

Grange, the most publicized player football ever knew has been out of the game as a player since 1924. But it's still his great love, and when he's through with his duties as assistant coach of the Chicago Bears, he enjoys studying intercollegiate eleven and their styles of play. And he sees a big difference in the game, in respect to defense, compared to the days when his number "77" meant trouble to the opposition.

"In the main, the running plays of today and when I played are practically the same," he said. "Lateral passes have opened up the game a little and some teams concentrate more on speed than on power, but the big difference I see is the improvement in defense."

"We used to play a seven man line and a diamond or box defense. We never heard of the 6-2-2 defense or the 6-3-1-1 or all those numbers you hear of today. Nowadays, coaches have different defenses for every game—and it's tough on the backs when they're up against something like that."

"Say—if some big team next Saturday used the defense we used 12 years ago they'd probably get beat, 40 to 0."

Always One Better

Grange said he doubted if many of the major college eleven will go through the season undefeated. Re-
